Why Lions Quest?

Lions Quest believes the most effective way to implement positive youth development programs and bring about lasting improvements in school climate is to equip educators with current research, materials and strategies for addressing critical issues facing youth. All three Lions Quest programs - Skills for Growing (grades K-5), Skills for Adolescence (grades 6-8), and Skills for Action (grades 9-12) - help foster in young people important life skills, healthy attitudes, strong character, positive relationships, and active citizenship through easy-to-use classroom materials, superior professional development, and important community partnerships. Lions Quest research-based programs support school-community partnerships by linking local schools with the largest service organization in the world - Lions Clubs International.

Who Are Lions?

Since 1917, Lions Clubs International (LCI) has worked for the betterment of local communities and the world at large. Whether responding when disaster strikes, helping the disabled face obstacles and challenges, or providing children with a safe and healthy learning environment, Lions are there to serve. It is this dedication and commitment to service that has made Lions Clubs International the world's largest service organization with 1.35 million members in 207 countries and geographic areas.

More than 25 years ago, Lions embraced the idea of comprehensive youth development in order to help children grow in a positive direction, free from the dangers of drugs and violence. Lions Clubs have continued to support Lions Quest programs locally through financial or in-kind donations, and through partnering with schools on service projects that impact their community.

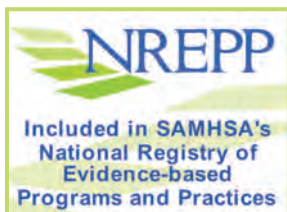

To locate a local Lions club in your area, visit the Lions Clubs International Web site at www.lionsclubs.org and use the "Find a Club" link at the top of the page.

Quality Matters

A number of national and international organizations committed to guiding young people toward healthy, drug- and violence-free lives have recognized Lions Quest and Lions Clubs International Foundation's support of youth development. Our research-based programs and superior professional development have been given high marks by numerous organizations.

The Collaborative for Academic, Social, and Emotional Learning (CASEL) has designated all three Lions Quest programs "Select SEL." This highest rating was awarded in recognition of Lions Quest's excellence in three areas recommended by CASEL as the most important starting points for program selection - Outstanding Social and Emotional Learning (SEL) Instruction, Evidence of Effectiveness, and Outstanding Professional Development.

Lions Quest Skills for Adolescence is listed on the National Registry of Evidence-Based Programs and Practices (NREPP), a service of the U.S. Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). Previously designated a "Model" program under SAMHSA's Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) Model Programs Initiative, Skills for Adolescence remains on the NREPP list as an evidence-based prevention program, rated for Quality of Research and Readiness for Dissemination.

Lions Quest Trainers

Lions Quest professional trainers meet the highest standards for professional development. All trainers have earned advanced degrees in education or a related field with direct experience and expertise in school leadership, positive youth development, prevention, character education, and service-learning initiatives. Lions Quest trainers are known worldwide for making each workshop a relevant, productive, and memorable experience. Participants continue to report that they gain fresh insights, learn new skills, and leave prepared to implement the Lions Quest program with confidence, enthusiasm, and fidelity.

Key Principles

Eight underlying principles guide all Lions Quest research and development.

1. Programs are comprehensive, appropriate for K-12 levels of cognitive and social development, and based on a positive youth development approach.
2. Programs are values-based, emphasizing self-discipline, responsibility, healthy living, volunteer service, and commitment to family, school and community.
3. Programs are designed as a classroom or out-of-school-time curriculum with school-community initiative for highest impact.
4. Components are designed for universal, explicit, systematic, and culturally relevant implementation.
5. Required professional development prepares adults to implement with fidelity.
6. Parent involvement is integral.
7. Home-school-community collaboration is essential.
8. Evaluation and accountability support successful outcomes and continuous improvement.

“We are very proud to partner with Lions Quest and let our audience know this is a program that we endorse, that we recommend and that we want everyone to know about.”

Lions Quest Program Evaluation and Results

Many research studies have been completed, some conducted by school districts, others completed by universities and independent research firms. Program evaluations, as well as reviews from objective organizations on the overall effectiveness of Lions Quest programs, can be viewed online at www.lions-quest.org.

Lions Quest schools and students have benefitted from improved school climate, student-teacher relationships, interpersonal skills, and strengthened commitment to service. Evaluation studies and educator testimonials continue to report the positive effects Lions Quest programs have on student performance and behavior, such as:

41% improvement in problem-solving skills*

51% increase in resiliency*

9% increase in GPA*

44% decline in out-of-school suspensions*

82% decline of in-school suspensions*

57% decline in school absences*

50% decrease in boy vs. girl bullying†

Lions Quest Skills for Growing can be used in classroom, after-school or community-based educational settings. The program brings school staff, families, communities and children together in a unified initiative that integrates social and emotional learning, character education, drug-use and bullying prevention, and service-learning. The program focuses the creative energies of children, helping them become capable, caring, and healthy young people.

Program Goals

- Create a learning community based on caring relationships, high expectations, and meaningful involvement
- Help children develop self-discipline, good judgment, responsibility, and skills to resolve conflicts peacefully
- Promote a healthy approach to life, free from substance use, bullying and destructive behaviors
- Strengthen children's commitment to family, positive peers, school and community
- Provide opportunities for children to practice good citizenship

Age Appropriate - Curriculum kits are grade specific, with six recurring thematic units - Building a School Community, Growing as a Group, Making Positive Decisions, Setting Goals for Service, Growing Up Drug-Free, and Celebrating You and Me. Each unit contains easy-to-use lesson plans with Discovering, Connecting, Practicing and Applying phases, supported by energizers and resource sheets.

The Family Connection – The Guide to Leading Parent Meetings supports and enhances the Parents as Partners component of Skills for Growing.

Setting Goals for Service - Provides opportunities for hands-on application of life skills through service-learning projects that reinforce positive behavior.

Assessment – Evaluation is essential but doesn't need to be complex. It could consist of before/after comparisons of school discipline, attendance, and academic performance records. Teacher observation and student self-evaluation, assisted by closure questions and techniques provided in the curriculum guides, can be a beneficial way to evaluate comprehension and skill development. There are a number of tools for use in a variety of settings found on our Web site, www.lions-quest.org.

Curriculum Includes:

- Six thematic units, each with 24-27 skill-building lessons
- Multidisciplinary activities to reinforce concepts
- Flexible stand-alone or integrated implementation models
- Service-learning projects
- Together Times student-family activity booklets
- Drug Information Guide
- School climate and parent meeting guides
- New bullying prevention supplemental lessons available at www.lions-quest.org

Professional Development Workshop

The elementary school years play an important role in the development of children's self-confidence and their ability to value and respect others. The Lions Quest Skills for Growing workshop prepares teachers, administrators, and community partners for successful program implementation. Follow-up support and technical assistance are available to workshop attendees through supplemental program materials, the Lions Quest Web site, e-mail and phone support, and on-site consulting.

Participants will be prepared to:

- Develop a safe, cooperative and participatory learning environment
- Teach skills necessary for elementary youth to build relationships, make positive decisions, resolve conflict, celebrate diversity, and avoid substance use
- Facilitate service-learning projects that contribute to the classroom, school and community
- Engage parents and community members as proactive partners in education
- Establish a successful school climate committee
- Explore models for successful classroom and schoolwide implementation

Workshop descriptions can be found on pages 13-14. Visit www.lions-quest.org to view our updated workshop schedule. Registration can be completed online or through our toll-free number, 1-800-446-2700.

Lions Quest brought the class together, and showed them what difficulties one another were having. It made them realize that other people's feelings matter as much as their own, and that itself is a life lesson.

Lions Quest Skills for Adolescence is a comprehensive life skills and prevention program for middle school youth that builds important social and emotional competencies by promoting self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, relationship skills, responsible decision making and service-learning. Interactive, student-focused lessons, unit activities and energizers are implemented with flexible stand-alone or integrated options of nine weeks to three years.

Program Goals:

- Engage students, families and community members in creating a positive learning environment with high expectations for appropriate behavior and meaningful involvement
- Teach necessary skills that empower youth to lead healthy and productive lives, free from the harm of bullying, alcohol and other drug use
- Involve young people in the practice of good citizenship through cooperation and service to others
- Strengthen young people's commitment to their families, positive peers, school and community

Cooperative Learning and Conflict Resolution - Cooperative group work provides a positive learning environment for students to learn self-discipline, responsibility, good judgment, and the ability to get along with others.

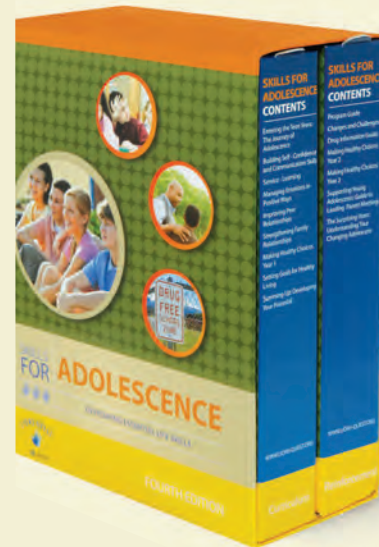

Service-Learning - Classroom and community service projects lead students through the four-step service-learning process - preparation, action, reflection, and demonstration and celebration - building essential citizenship and employability skills.

Social-Emotional Skills - Helps students gain control of emotions and express feelings, thoughts and actions in positive ways. Strengthens confidence, encourages family bonding and builds constructive peer relationships.

Multicultural Understanding - Teaches understanding and respect for diverse heritages and cultures.

Parental Involvement - Easy-to-understand materials and interactive school meetings help parents become engaged in their child's educational experience.

Assessment - Unit tests and assignments help assess knowledge gained from individual lessons. For more comprehensive pre- and post-test options, there are a number of assessment suggestions found within the curriculum kit, as well as evaluation tools for use in a variety of settings found on our Web site, www.lions-quest.org.

Skills for Action is the high school component of Lions Quest programs. The innovative and flexible curriculum moves beyond the classroom to foster civic responsibility and build essential social, emotional, academic and workplace skills. The curriculum manual, divided into four parts - Building a Learning Community, Exploring Personal and Social Responsibility, Taking Action through Service-Learning, and Evaluating and Sharing Experiences - is designed to support educators in integrating the service-learning methodology and project focus into any subject area.

Program Goals

- Support the development of responsible, healthy, substance-free young adults
- Help students learn and apply key personal, social and employability skills
- Involve young people in collaboration and meaningful contributions to the school and community
- Reinforce positive values including honesty, self-discipline, commitment to family and respect for others
- Promote understanding and appreciation of diversity

Skills Bank - A highly flexible component of Skills for Action, the Skills Bank contains four broad categories of essential skills for life: Cultural Awareness, Interpersonal Communication, Personal Management and Responsibility, and Study and Writing Skills. Each category is comprised of five to nine skills for a total of 26 skill sets. Skill lessons are divided into an introductory rationale, guidelines, and multiple application options for teaching, reinforcement and enrichment. The Skills Bank serves as a supplement to the service-learning curriculum that can also be used as a stand-alone program or integrated into any subject in which social, emotional and study skills are an essential component. A one-day staff development workshop is available to support Skills Bank implementation.

Assessment - Unit tests and assignments help assess knowledge gained from individual lessons. For more comprehensive pre- and post-test options, there are a number of assessment suggestions found within the curriculum kit, as well as evaluation tools for use in a variety of settings found on our Web site, www.lions-quest.org.

Curriculum Includes:

- A 33-session teacher's manual with best practices in service-learning
- A Skills Bank of 26 social, emotional and workplace skill sets with 160 learning activities
- Advisory Team Handbook to encourage the home-school-community partnership
- One-semester, one-year, and multi-year stand-alone or integrated implementation options
- Making a Difference student magazine
- New supplemental lessons covering intimidation, taunting and digital abuse available at www.lions-quest.org

Professional Development

Programs for youth have the greatest chance of success when combined with comprehensive, program-specific instructor training. To ensure the integrity and quality of our programs, teachers must be certified as Lions Quest instructors before adopting curricula for classroom use. Lions Quest one- and two-day core workshops deliver superior curriculum and teacher training at every grade level. All of our workshops are conducted by Lions Quest trainers who represent the highest standards of professionalism in education and positive youth development.

Professional Development Benefits

- Graduate credit available
- Comprehensive preparation in Lions Quest programs
- Best practices in social and emotional learning, character development, and service-learning
- Dynamic interaction with colleagues
- Hands-on experience with classroom materials
- Renewed enthusiasm and professional pride
- Participation in community-based service (Skills for Action workshops)

Training Formats

Lions Quest professional development workshops are offered in a variety of formats, allowing for flexibility, accessibility and sustainability.

Host a Workshop

Organizations wishing to implement Lions Quest programs can host a teacher workshop on-site. A member of our national training team will come to your chosen location on a convenient date/s to facilitate training for your staff. Workshops are offered in one- and two-day formats, covering one of our programs - Skills for Growing (K-5), Skills for Adolescence (6-8) or Skills for Action (9-12) - or any combination of K-12. A maximum of 40 participants are welcome in one workshop. Participants may include new or previously-trained Lions Quest teachers, administrators, support staff, and parents or community members.

Attend a Regional Workshop

Throughout the year, Lions Quest sponsors open-enrollment, regional workshops across the U.S., based on local need. Regional workshops offer another opportunity for individuals or small groups to participate in Lions Quest training.

Attend a Sponsored Workshop

Educators from organizations that don't have a need to host their own workshop may attend any sponsored workshop on our schedule for $220, provided space is available.

For those interested in focusing on specific needs and goals, Lions Quest offers one-day workshops that incorporate current research, reinforce skills and strategies, and provide tips for best practices. Each workshop highlights a specific topic within Lions Quest's curriculum, providing more in-depth analysis and discussion.

Easy Integration Paves the Way for Implementation Success!

How do teachers find the time to implement a new program? Flexibility.

“Our teachers feel that Lions Quest integrates easily into the academic curriculum,” explains Darlene French, Comprehensive Learning Supports System Specialist, Iberia Parish School System, LA.

“We have always had a positive response to the training and introduction of the curriculum. But more importantly, we receive the same response in our follow up after the teacher has implemented the curriculum in the classroom.”

“The program reinforces classroom management and is very easy to use.”

“We also find that a lesson can be divided into several days with no negative impact.” Iberia Parish teachers observe students enjoying the lessons and using them both inside and outside the classroom.

“Lions Quest has been an integral factor in improving school climate and meeting the requirements for mandated implementation of Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports (PBIS). We have definitely seen a reduction in referrals for drugs and weapons and I feel it is because of the prevention units covered in all grades.”

Lions Quest Workshops

Sponsored Workshops

Sponsored workshops are hosted and funded by a school or Lions club. They are available in one- and two-day formats, covering one or a combination of programs. Sponsored workshops are a great opportunity to involve administration, support staff and community members in development of the school climate.

Participants will learn about the strong link between service-learning, academic achievement and success in school.

Cost: $2700 for up to 40 participants

Supporting & Strengthening (Grades K-12)

This workshop is for support staff to learn the Lions Quest program framework and components, review materials, explore characteristics of children and adolescents, discuss the various classroom strategies that educators can employ, and learn about climate assessment and improvement strategies. Support staff will begin to understand how meaningful their roles will be in supporting Lions Quest programs within their school.

Cost: $2700 for up to 40 participants

Social, Emotional and Workplace Skills for Success in School and Life (Grades 9-12)

This workshop will provide participants with an increased understanding of social and emotional learning (SEL) and the demands of the 21st century workplace. Utilizing the Skills Bank book from the Skills for Action curriculum, educators will become familiar with the 26 skill sets designed to implement effective SEL and school-to-work competencies in the classroom and the school. Participants will practice teaching from the Skills Bank and explore models for implementation and integration of SEL into the school curriculum.

Cost: $2700 for up to 40 participants; Includes the Skills Bank book

Teens - Alcohol & Other Drugs (Grades 9-12)

Teens- Alcohol and Other Drugs (TAOD) is a supplemental, thematic unit of Skills for Action that provides in-depth coverage of one of the most urgent issues facing youth today. Educators will receive the tools to help students gain the knowledge, attitudes and behaviors they need to grow up healthy and drug-free, while resisting alcohol and other drugs within school.

Cost: $2700 for up to 40 participants; Includes the TAOD curriculum

Skills for Adolescence for Out-of-School Time (SFA for OST) (Grades 6-8)

This workshop is for staff interested in a positive youth development program for out-of-school time settings. Participants will learn relationship-centered learning community strategies and activities that help tie character education to academics.

Experiential, on-site staff development training is optional but highly recommended. Training can be completed in a one day, 8-hour session or in two consecutive 4-hour half-days.

A four-part webinar series is available to provide continuing support of program implementation.

Topics include:

- Creating a Relationship-Centered Learning Community
- Promoting Social and Emotional Learning through SFA
- Strategies for Reinforcing SFA Lesson Concepts and Skills
- Making the Most of the SFA Service-Learning Component

With the purchase of staff development training, the Program Manual or Program Supplement can be purchased at a 25% discount, and Changes and Challenges student activity books can be purchased at a 15% discount.

Cost: $2700 for one day
$3200 for two half-days
$350 webinar series
